

CHRISTMAS CROSSWORD

Across

1. In its fourth reincarnation one of Mr Keller's favourite toys.
4. You can do it awake in a bed or to someone you don't want to be honest to.
5. It can be very attractive.
10. She is the one.
11. Towards the end of the countdown.
14. Schiller wrote one to joy.
15. Thus is the student organisation.
17. Else's partner in a program.
18. After the first one comes a basic unit.
19. In spite of its close relation to energy, some students don't really use theirs.
22. You get a free trip to Stockholm if you win this prize!
24. The English version of AW.
25. Three quarters of a knot.
27. A bright English tabloid.
29. Newton's first law is all about this.
30. This guide explains all about 42.
31. Bones, California and Canada have it in common.
32. A (too?) short weekend.
33. Nitrogen meeting oxygen (and a few others).
34. Ten to the power of six.
36. 1010 for computer illiterates.
38. My home reminds me of silver.
39. A very Swiss particle.
40. Roughly 32 million seconds.
44. Ban Ki-Moon's company.
46. Thanks to Einstein time is just another dimension.
49. You can do it in joy or observe how it is deflected in a field.
51. Milky Way.
52. Most important word in a pub.
54. Perfect symmetry in three dimensions.
55. Is David Beckham really as bright as our Sun?
56. Opposites do attract!
60. Basically a cylinder.
61. If it's tiny, it's also a unit.
62. Amira prefers the other wing.
65. One half of salt.
66. Essential tool to solve physics problems.
68. Famous physics teacher.
70. The first is quite positive.
72. See you in a wire!
73. The new one in the Matrix.
75. If I was a king, this would be me.
76. The real number 1!

Down

1. Room with a (brilliant) view.
2. A little bit of light.
3. He is also quite inert.
4. The negative hand.
6. Mr Toggenburger's world.
7. What yeasayers do.
8. One half of girls and boys united at school.
9. The Englishman's Coffee.
12. Greatest single-digit square number.
13. Speed with a direction.
16. A potential difference.
18. Rudolph's master.
19. Parts in one hundred.
20. We live in a modern one.
21. It has always been the same.
22. When the Sun hides behind the Earth.
23. The Beatles let it.
26. Usually more stable than four.
27. This pack gets men to the gym.
28. England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland.
30. Twin to 3 down.
32. With less it's over the air.
35. Precious 79.
37. This Babylonian contribution to mathematics is actually nothing at all.
41. Quite an unstable gas.
42. Miss Marple's favourite toxic.
43. Your class teacher in English.
45. Links force to acceleration.
47. I don't need one to get from A to Z.
48. Makes all the difference between an atom and an ion.
49. The beginning of me.
50. Turns Coke into something almost healthy.
52. A dangerous Swiss bank.
53. There was a time when this was one of the elements.
54. Giovanni agrees that this is a semiconductor.
57. The main effect of a light bulb.
58. Snowfall above 32 °F.
59. The way you should address me.
61. Our chocolate bar neighbour.
63. Four thirds of an English lesson.
64. Alleged reason for lunacy.
67. The only way out is down.
69. Home! Sweet home!
70. Although it sounds like round pastry, it only goes half way around.
71. Your favourite subject even emits light.
72. The iPod's mother.
73. Calculator speak for: times ten to the power of.